Capital of the Italian island of Sardinia, a natural paradise in the heart of the western Mediterranean Sea, Cagliari is located in the south of the region, in a beautiful bay that for centuries has offered a safe harbor to mariners.

The port of Cagliari has an interesting geographical position, located halfway between the Iberian coast to the west, Italian coast to the east and North African coast to the South, and therefore has the advantage of being included on different routes while offering unforgettable experiences to cruise passengers and fuel efficiency to cruise lines.

Med key port, Cagliari Cruise Port is able to safely host even the world's largest cruise ships for transit and turnaround operations, thanks to its large docks and its new and modern terminal equipped with multiple services and a convenient retail area.

In September 2020 Cagliari Cruise Port has obtained the "Safe Travel" stamp by the World Travel & Tourism Council, which certifies the company's commitment to the creation and implementation of health and hygiene measures to preventing Covid-19 infections.

Passengers Services

On the Rinascita Pier, Cagliari Cruise Port manages a new cruise terminal of about 1,000 square meters, opened in July 2016, which welcomes passengers and crews.

The structure is equipped with shops and services, is accessible for guests with special needs (for which it also offers, upon request, dedicated services), and hosts a Guest Information Center (GIC) with multilingual staff.

The GIC offers information on everything related to the destination, recommendation and reservations of different means and activities, a wide range of official Cagliari Cruise Port souvenirs, gifts and merchandising.

Since the terminal is located within a security area where pedestrian transit is not allowed, Cagliari Cruise Port offers its guests shuttle buses directed to the exit of the port area, which is not far from the heart of city. A large parking area overlooking the ship's quay is also available for embarking guests.

CAGLIARI

Cagliari is the most important city of Sardinia, with about half a million inhabitants living in the metropolitan area.

The capital of this wonderful Italian island has a soul made of millenary history, culture, nature, beach tourism and night life, an attractive mix that fascinates the visitors, charmed by the views of Castello district, the Bastion of S. Remy, the Roman amphitheater, the Sardinian sea, as well as by the dynamism of a surprisingly lively city.

Must See

Castello District

Castello district preserves and show off the most important remains of the local Middle Ages. Still today most of the Pisan fortifications strongly characterize the face of the acropolis, which is one of the most treasured scenery in Sardinia.

Roman Amphitheatre

The Roman Amphitheatre is the most important building dating from the Roman period in Sardinia.

It was built between the first and second Centuries AD, and is located a short distance from the port.

Poetto Beach

A vast and stunning city beach, with eight kilometres of coastline made by soft sand, blue sea, relax, fun and sport. A few kilometres from the Cagliari centre and port area.

N.S. di Bonaria Sanctuary

The Sanctuary and Basilica of Bonaria and its museum are located on the top of the hill with the same name, from which you can enjoy a beautiful view of Castello district and Su Siccù landscape.

Must See

Villa of Tigellio

Villa of Tigellio is amongst the few complete archaeological find of a Roman house in Sardinia. Site accessible to all, it surprises for the beauty of the structures and the mosaics found.

Two Towers

S. Pancrazio Tower (1305 AD) and Elephant Tower (1307 AD) are located in Castello district. Designed by G. Capula, the towers were built to defend the castle entrances and support the city walls.

National Archeological Museum

Born in 1800, the Museum is divided into four floors and with its collections and finds tells the history of Sardinia from the beginning of time to the present day.

Bastion of S. Remy

The whole building is built in Classical style, with Corinthian columns made of "Pietra Forte" limestone. From the large terrace Umberto I, it opens an unforgettable view of the city and the port area of Cagliari.

Markets

S. Chiara Civic Market

S. Chiara Civic Market is the oldest among Cagliari Civic Markets: it opened its doors in 1957 and contains all the charm and personality of those years.

It occupies part of the area of the Convent of the Clarisse nuns (destroyed by bombing in 1943), of which today only a few ruins remain.

From December 2018, the S. Chiara Market is enriched by a modern dining area that welcomes citizens and tourists from breakfast until late evening.

S. Benedetto Civic Market

The S. Benedetto market was inaugurated in the 1957 and with its 8,000 sqm is the largest civic market in Europe.

On the ground floor there is the fish department, while on the upper floor you can find fruit and vegetable, meats, various kinds of services.

The best time to visit the market is early in the morning, when it exhibits all the treasures of Sardinian gastronomy. An entire floor is dedicated to the fish counters. With its shops and bars the market is also an opportunity for an unforgettable breakfast or snack, in an environment full of life, colors and intense scents.

Nature

Botanical Garden

A large green space in the historic centre of Cagliari. The Botanical Garden covers an area of about five hectares and contains an enormous variety of plants from all over the world. It is fascinating its proximity to the Roman amphitheater, located in a contiguous area.

Molentargius National Park

Ever the preferred habitat of pink flamingos, the Molentargius park is a huge ecosystem that hosts different species of mammals, amphibians and lots of aquatic birds. It is worth visiting either on foot or by bicycle.

FAI - Conti Vecchi Salt Flats

An immense naturalistic area and an industrial archeology site within a company that is still productive today tell the story of the salt enterprise with period settings, immersive exhibitions and a path between natural pools, salt mountains and wildlife.

SAN SPERATE

The Museum Town

This small town in southern Sardinia has earned the title of "museum town" thanks to the many murals that decorate the walls of its buildings, making it an open-air museum.

San Sperate is also the birthplace of Pinuccio Sciola, a Sardinian sculptor known for his sonorous stones, sculptures similar to large menhirs that resound when caressed with the hands or with small rocks, to be admired at the "Giardino Sonoro" (sound garden), the open-air museum of the artist.

PARTEOLLA

Sardinian food and wine experience

Fields of vines and olive trees as far as the eye can see, vast sheep and goat farms, endless hills, mountains crowned by curious nuraghi, and an old cathedral (that of Dolianova) that hides its roots in the Romanesque period: this is the Parteolla, an ancient territory rich in history, traditions and productive realities

The municipalities of Dolianova, Barrali, Donori, Serdiana, Soleminis and Settimo San Pietro are part of it, and it represents a mandatory destination for those who love nature and its genuine products.

Here it will be easy to savor a good wine accompanied by tasty cheeses, a slice of bread topped with the fragrant local oil and traditional Sardinian sweets.

The wineries in the area are well known. Among these we remember those of Argiolas, which boasts award-winning and globally known wines.

BARUMINI

UNESCO World Heritage Site

During the end of the second millennium BC, in the Bronze Age, a particular type of defensive structure known as “nuraghi” (for which there are no parallels anywhere else in the world) developed on the island of Sardinia. The Barumini complex consists of circular defensive towers in the shape of a truncated cone, with internal shelves and a vaulted compartment. The Nuragic complex, enlarged and reinforced in the first half of the first millennium under the Carthaginian thrust, is the best and most complete example of this extraordinary form of prehistoric architecture.

Barumini is a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

IGLESIAS

The unexpected charm of an ancient mining town

Iglesias, an elegant town on the southwestern coast of Sardinia, enchants everyone with the beauty of its Art Nouveau architecture, its peculiar history and its territory of inimitable beauty. Its mining past begins with the Phoenicians and the Punic and reaches the mid-1900s: do not miss a visit to the mines of the Geomineral Park of Sardinia, an important memory of the main productive activity of the area. But Iglesias is also sea and mountains: whether you love to jump aboard a fishing boat, experience climbing on the cliffs of Masua or enjoy a walk in the romantic Nebida viewpoint, here you will find whatever you want.

Why Cagliari?

6 GOOD THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW

 LOCATION | Cagliari is included in several routes thanks to its good location, halfway between the Iberian coasts to the West and the Italian and North African coasts to the East and South, granting high value experience and fuel efficiency: Tunis (145 nm), Trapani (175 nm), Palermo (205 nm), Civitavecchia (225 nm), Port Mahon (250 nm), Naples (260 nm), Livorno (300 nm).

 FACILITY | Cagliari offers berthing accommodations for any kind of cruise ships, including the last generation's ones. Quays up to 480 m length on a maximum depth of 10 m.

 SHOREX | Lots of year-round shore excursions and activities for everyone's taste within a short drive from the ship's berth.

 WEATHER | Mild weather conditions throughout the year with average winter temperatures (from October to March) between 6,5°C and 22°C and only 76 rainy days a year.

 CONNECTIONS | High potential for pre & post cruise packages, thanks to the large hotel availability and port's proximity to the city's center and to the main air-train-road networks. The International Airport of Elmas is only 6 km away.

 SAFE DESTINATION | Cagliari Cruise Port has obtained the "Safe Travels Stamp", a recognition granted by the World Travel & Tourism Council, the world's leading association in the tourism sector, which certifies the company's commitment to preventing Covid-19 infections.
